Richard: I am working with Sherry Estes and trying to get a liability package in the mail this week that will link the Chem-Dyne PRPs to the Skinner Site. In the memo describing our evidence I write that "EPA considered which compounds or constituent wastes may leach from a particular described waste, off-spec products, and degradation of waste under landfill conditions. For example, Chem-Dyne transactional documents state that a particular generator shipped benzoyl chloride to the Chem-Dyne facility in Hamilton - we know that toluene and benzene ARE constituent wastes of benzoyl chloride."

My question is whether I can use the word "ARE" in the preceding sentence, or whether it is only accurate to state "toluene and benzene MAY BE constituent wastes ..." Because of the need to mail this memo this week, I would appreciate your thoughts as soon as possible.
Thanks for any help you can provide,

Craig M.

Benzene and Toluene are constituent wastes of Benzoyl Chloride.
